

Deep Sonora: A Very Different Journey Through Nature and History this End of 2025

Tired of the year-end routine? Escape to the geographical and historical contrast of Sonora.

This is not a simple trip; it's an expedition guided by the ethnohistorian Eric G. Cárdenas from the México Antes de México channel, designed to rewrite your concept of Northern Mexico. Starting from the capital, Hermosillo, we will delve into the heart of deep history:

🌵 Millennial Desert: We will explore the El Pinacate National Park (UNESCO Heritage) and the Gran Desierto de Altar, a landscape that reminds us of planetary immensity and volcanic geology.

🏛️ Routes of Time: We will analyze the viceregal traces in the Jesuit missions, decipher the rock art of La Proveedora, and walk upon antiquity at the enigmatic Cerro Trincheras Archaeological Zone.

🌊 Cultural Encounter: We will culminate with a coastal immersion experience, sharing time with the indigenous Comcáac (Seri) community in Punta Chueca, learning about their worldview and the natural environment they have safeguarded for centuries.

Join Eric G. Cárdenas to experience the history and nature of beautiful Sonora

Price per person $11,250 mexican pesos or $630 US dollars
